Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 12-15 and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Luchi (US 3650126).

As seen for example in figures 2, 5, 6, 9, and 13 Luchi (US 3650126) teaches the invention as claimed including method for manufacturing knitted articles for forming items of clothing without lateral seams, with a circular knitting machine having needle cylinder and needles (column 1, lines 5-9) comprising a step for forming at least one pouch-shaped region in which part of the needles or all the needles that belong to at least one sector ( $\beta$ ) of the needle cylinder are moved to knit at least one feed (f) of the machine by actuating the needle cylinder of the machine with an alternating rotary motion about an axis thereof ( column 2, lines 13-24 and column , 3 lines 1-3 and column 4, lines 21-24) and with an extent of oscillation that is sufficient to make transiting, at said at least one feed, all the needles of said at least one sector that are moved for knitting at said at least one feed, in order to form, with the needles that belong to said at least one sector and are moved for knitting, a number of rows of knitting in excess with respect to a number of rows of knitting formed by the needles that are contiguous to said at least one sector.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 16, 21 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Luchi (US 3650126)

Luchi (US 3650126) teaches the invention substantially as claimed as indicated above in the rejection to claim 12. However, Luchi (US 3650126) does not teach the gradually increasing and then decreasing, a double folded border or a second pouch portion. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide a gradual increasing and decreasing of the sector in order to provide a specific shaping of the knitting pouch portion. Concerning the inclusion of a double folded border portion, the examiner takes official notice of the inclusion of double folded welt portion in circular knitted garments as borders. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide a double folded border or welt portion in order to maintain garment in the proper location on the wearer. Also it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide a second pouch portion on the knitted garment in order to maintain the garment for a specific end use.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
